What Bible Say

Lowell "Dick" Hillis

"What Bible say" she said in the sweetest broken English. Here was one of the most brilliant young Russian minds I had ever encountered. A beautiful girl with a bright future and an astute student. It wasn't a question of what I believed or thought; she wanted to know what the Bible said. She had questions which were well thought out and not of the type that betray Biblical ignorance. After our study she stated she wanted to be baptized and be a Christian. Yet she delayed. I agonized over her delay in completing obedience to the Lord. But wanting to know "what does Bible say" finally led her to obey the Lord in baptism. This incident happened several years ago, but what a great lesson this young lady taught on trust in God's word.

"And you shall know the truth and the truth shall make you free," (John. 8:32)

How sad it is that our world has to question the inspiration of the Bible, whether or not Paul's epistles are inspired of God. We have those who advocate a new hermeneutic for our time. We have those who are looking for something else, something new. Something with "loopholes." Some, due to skepticism growing out of an age of permissiveness and self-gratification, can't trust in anything. Perhaps the complexity of our time, the need of having our hands on everything, and the analytical

God's Plan of Salvation

1. Hearing the Word of God (Rom. 10:17; Acts 16:32)
2. Believe what is taught (Mark 16:16; Heb 11:6)
3. Repentance (Acts 2:38; Luke 13:3; Acts 17:30)
4. Confession (Acts 8:37; Rom. 10:9-10)
5. Baptism (1 Peter 3:21; Acts 2:38; Mark 16:16; Rom. 6:3-4)
6. After the above five steps, faithful Christian living (1 Peter 2:11-12; Rev. 2:10) nature of modern thinkers has led to a lack of faith in the Bible. As Isaiah wrote (Isa:40:8). The Bible stands, as always, on its own.

“Please come and hear what the word is that comes from the Lord.” (Ezekiel. 33:30)

What is really needed is for those of us who believe the Bible to openly ask, “What Bible say”?
